DAYTON MAN NAMED TO HEALTH POST

Pressure On, Lamb Gets Out

Sells TV Firm, Quits Springfield

Lawyer Edward Lamb of Toledo, under fire for communist sympathies, associations and writings and the man who in two weeks procured five radio broadcasting licenses from the Federal Communications commission, has started disposing of some of the corporations he had set up ostensibly for operating radio stations

Among the five "quickie" grants of broadcasting licenses to Lamb was one for a frequency modulation (FM) radio station in Mansfield

Disclosure that the Toledo lawyer is putting part o. his holdings on the market came in two developments announced by Lamb himself.

In his Erie, Pa, newspaper, the Dispatch, Lamb revealed the sale of the Mansfield Radio company, which, despite its name, apparently had no connection with Lamb's radio dealings in the city of Mansfield.

HEARING NEARS

The Mansfield Radio company, according to Lamb's announcement, has an application before the Federal Communications commission seeking a television license for Youngstown Ninety per cent of the stock of the firm was owned by Lamb and his wife, Prudence, prior to the announced sale to a group headed by a Youngstown oil company executive

A hearing on the license application in Youngstown is scheduled to be held June 14 in that city before an FCC examiner. The Mansfield Radio company application has been consolidated in proceedings before the FCC with applications of two other applicants for the single television frequency available in Youngstown.

Lamb's second announcement concerning his radio enterprises was that the Unity corporation, which obtained broadcasting licenses for Mansfield and Springfield "would not pursue its plans of constructing a station" in Springfield Lamb is president, treasurer and a director of Unity corporation and 62 per cent of the stock in the concern is owned by Lamb and his wife

SILENT ON MANSFIELD

Asked by Associated Press for details of his plans for developing his unprecedented FCC permit grants in Ohio, Lamb said that he plans to go ahead with a television station in Columbus, and that he probably will surrender his FM construction permit in Springfield He declined to comment on his Unity corporation's plans for Mansfield

Lamb stated in his newspaper that he sold his Youngstown interests and would abandon his plans in Springfield because he "wished to be free to devote a larger share of his time to the construction and operation of his radio interests in Columbus and Toledo and in Erie."

His announcement took no note of the fact that recent developments in Congress might have placed any further Lamb-FCC

1,093 Kick On Fast Time

A petition signed by 1,093 persons opposed to fast time was received today a few hours before council scheduled a special meeting to give second reading to the proposal

The petition, circulated at the Westinghouse plant, was signed by a number of persons residing outside the city limits and outside the county, including Danville, Fredericktown and Mt. Vernon. The majority of signees, however, were city residents.

The measure, given first reading Tuesday, includes an "emergency clause" which would place daylight time in effect "from and after the time of passage of the bill"

Council plans a third reading before the middle of the month at which time a vote will be taken. A simple majority is needed for approval.

After tonight's council meeting the finance committee will meet with the mayor, service director and auditor for a preliminary study of the proposed budget for 1949.

384 Diplomas Granted Seniors

3,000 See March of Graduates

By NITA BRANSON

As the setting sun cast long shadows over Stadium field shortly before 8 o'clock last night, the last strains of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstances" died away and the last maroon and white gowns disappeared through the east gate

Senior high school had just graduated the largest class in its history—384 boys and girls.

All but 23 of them were in the procession that started moving into the stadium promptly at 6 p. m. The "class that dares to be different" marched three abreast—three white-gowned girls followed by three maroon-gowned boys

The impressive ceremonies were held in perfect weather. A bright sun emphasized the beauty of the colorful procession

Movie cameras, news camera and little box cameras recorded the march the handing out of diplomas and the recessional march of the seniors

STANDS FILLED

The stadium's west stand was filled with 3 000 parents and friends Scores of others stood at each end of the field to hear Dr Frank L Eversull's talk over the public address system He was introduced by Supt of Schools W L. Miller

Dr Eversull's talk on "The Highways We Take" struck a responsive chord for seniors and parents alike. It was a sincere, urgent challenge to make the world a better place in which to live through science of chemistry, the science of biology and the science of human relations

From his widely traveled experiences, Dr. Eversull related scientific, humanitarian and spiritual truths, which if followed wisely, he said, would result in a better America and a better world.

"I find that the average senior today is more alert, more open-minded than any group to which I have ever spoken," he said "In this post-war world, there is an entirely new series of directions upon which you may travel It is an entirely different sort of world than any traveled before Which road, I might ask, is this group going to take?"

VAST FIELDS OPEN

He pointed to the vast field of scientific accomplishments which include those of mathmetics and physics, chemistry, plastics, atomic energy, biology and even the newer sciences

'From this class," he declared,

END OF ROAD—Three hundred and eighty-four young Mansfielders came to the end of their public school careers last night before a gathering of 3,000 parents and friends. At top, the seniors march three abreast to their seats in the west stands of Stadium field. Lower left, class president Norman Henry adjusts the caps of Dixie Scoles, who topped the entire class in scholarship. Marjorie Selby, whose fine voice has won her a music scholarship, looks on. Lower right, Marilyn Hughes leaves the speaker's stand with her diploma as Assistant Principal H. D. Dry Weather Hits Fruit

Berry Crop Needs Rain, Grower Says

Mansfielders will have a short crop of strawberries for their shortcake and jam unless it rains within a week

That's the opinion of Frank Tingley, Ohiesburg road one of the county's leading berry growers

Tingley who usually harvests about 9 000 quarts of berries, said he's had only 1 000 quarts from his berry patch since last Friday

"Strawberries need plenty of moisture during the ripening season," he said. "In order to fill out properly, they need rain every four or five days"

Tingley said however the few berries available so far have been of the best quality but there just aren't enough

Despite the short crop berry prices remain about the same on the local market as for the past two or three years Retail prices are about 59 cents per quart while wholesale rates are 50 cents

The weatherman held little hope today for any rain before Sunday. Fair skies and continued warm weather were forecast for tonight and Friday and probably through Saturday Temperature range in Mansfield yesterday was from 54 to 78 degrees

Atom Strike Vote Called

OAK RIDGE Tenn —(UP)— Atomic energy workers at the Oak Ridge National laboratories moved one step closer to a strike today, voting 771 to 26 to turn down management's "final" wage increase offer

Members of the AFL's Atomic Trades and Labor council refused to accept a 10-cent hourly wage increase and set a meeting for Sunday to decide whether to strike.

The National Labor Relations board supervised the two-day poll which ended yesterday on the "final" wage offer made Carbide and Carbon Chemical corporation, which operates the laboratory for the government

The result of the NLRB vote on the 10-cent offer had been virtually a foregone conclusion Last week the union at a mass meeting voted to withdraw its compromise offer to accept a 15-cent hourly raise and decided to hold out for 26 cents Their original demand was a 21-cent hourly hike

The union voted to strike in March over the wage dispute, but the government halted the walkout with an 80-day no-strike injunction—the first obtained under the emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act

Flood Again Goes Higher

Columbia Forms Second Crest

PORTLAND Ore —(AP)— The Columbia river system spawned a new flood in its head-waters today Crest of the old one still threatens to punch out weakened dikes far downstream near the sea

Warning of the new flood abuilding came with residents of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia near exhaustion from their two week battle against what is already the rivers most disastrous rampage

All along the 1,000-mile course of the great river from the Canadian Rockies to the Pacific, water-logged cities and farm communities braced themselves for the new onslaught—if they weren't too busy fighting off flood waters already at hand.

The old crest was rolling down the last 40 miles of its course of death and destruction to the sea This still was a critical area

Regular army troops national guardsmen and civilian volunteers worked on soggy dikes only inches higher than the churning waters from Clatskanie on the Oregon shore to the stilt-supported fishing center of Astoria at rivers mouth

Again this morning—as yesterday—the danger of breakthrough was multiplied by a high tide coming up the river.

It was touch and go Workers strained to build up the earthworks protecting the fertile lowlands Their fight was against property damage only The people were evacuated days ago

'Mock' Bombs Rain On City

DETROIT —(UP)— The industrial might of the nation's auto production center lay in mock ruin today from a blitz bombing attack staged yesterday by 200 superfortresses of the strategic air command

An alert but outnumbered defense force of 40 jet fighters led by wartime ace Lt Col. David Schilling was unable to prevent the bombers escorted by 150 fighters from reaching their targets

"The bombers could have torn Detroit to bits if they had been carrying bombs" an Air Force observer at Selfridge field said.

House Even Equipped With Wife

MIDDLETON, Conn —(UP)— Nellie Wolan, a 34-year-old blonde made the outstanding proposal of the leap year today

She offered a furnished six-room house complete with wife (herself) to any eligible bachelor who meets her needs for "an affectionate husband"

Miss Wolan was quick to point out that it was not a lack of suitors that caused her to appeal publicly

"I've got lots of boy friends," she explained 'But there's always a catch Either they have lots of money and are dull, or have plenty of personality and no money My man must be in between'

25 Per Cent Foreign Aid Slash Urged

Committee Hacks At Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A 25 per cent cut in funds for the Marshall plan and other foreign aid programs was urged today by the House appropriations committee

The committee sent to the House floor for probable hot debate tomorrow a $5 980 710,228 global assistance measure

This is a reduction of only $553,000,000, or 7.5 per cent, in the amount Congress itself authorized and President Truman asked

But the effect is a one-quarter slash for this reason: The authorization law provided that the money could be spent during 12 months But the committee said the cash it is willing to put up must be stretched out over 15 months

Slightly more than $5,000,000,000 of the total asked had been budgeted for use during the 12 months ending next April 3 or at the rate of $417 000,000 per month

The committee trimmed that total to $4,663 000,000 for 15 months a spending rate of $311,000 000 monthly

Other funds in the bill were cut $150,000,000 with the money to be spent during a 12-month period as originally planned.

In explaining the cuts and spreading out the spending period, the committee said the programs contemplated "will not permit the expenditure of more funds than has been provided . . . on an intelligent basis" before July 1, 1949

Should an emergency arise before then it added, Congress will be in session again next January to take action

Cease Fire Order Near

CAIRO —(AP)— Arabs and Jews went on fighting in Palestine today but a United Nations mediator got the job of setting the time for a cease fire to last four weeks

The mediator, Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, working out of Cairo, was told to fix the day and hour by the U. N. security council, meeting yesterday in Lake Success, N. Y.

The council's plea for an armistice had been accepted Tuesday by both sides—the Israel government of the Jews and the Arab league political committee for the five Arab countries with troops in the Holy Land

The United States was said to want the truce to start by Sunday But Jamal Husseini of the Palestine Arab higher committee told U. N newsmen five days would be needed to give Arab fighters the word

BODY UNIDENTIFIED

NORTHEAST, Pa — (INS) — Erie county police today are seeking the identity of a mutilated body found on the shore of Lake Erie in Northeast township.

Dr. Wain Chosen By Boards

Commissioner To Get $8,000

Dr. Harry Wain, medical and acting director of the Miami Valley hospital, Dayton, was appointed today as Mansfield-Richland county health commissioner, James F Carrigan, chairman of the city health board, announced.

The new commissioner will come to Mansfield about July 2 to take over the post which has been filled since March 1 by Dr. A. C. Biddle as acting commissioner. He will receive $8.000 a year.

Dr Wain has had a number of years of experience in the public health field

From 1939 to 1942 he served as

health commissioner of Sidney and Shelby county and from 1942 until May, 1947, as commissioner of Troy and Miami county

Dr Wain told The News-Journal today: "I hope to be able to do a fine job and give Mansfield an outstanding health department"

HOUSE HUNTING

One of his first problems will arise even before he takes office. He must find living quarters for his family He has three daughters

In announcing the appointment shortly before noon today, Carrigan said he had been authorized by both the Mansfield and county boards to employ Dr Wain if he would accept

"Dr. Wain is going to run the health department as he thinks it should be run and without outside interference," Carrigan said.

Dr Fred O Tonney who resigned as commissioner in February said in leaving the office that "political interests" had interfered with the operations of his department

The hiring of Dr Wain brings to a close the search for a permanent health commissioner that began March 1 when Dr. Tonney, resigned to take up duties in southern Illinois

Prints Bare Ohio Suspect

TOLEDO — (AP) — Prosecutor Joel S Rhinefort and detective Capt Ralph Murray planned to leave today for Jacksonville, Ill., with warrants charging James Osinski with the slaying of his wife and her parents

The FBI announced yesterday that Osinski had been found in the state mental hospital at Jacksonville He was traced through fingerprints

The Osinskis two babies, Johnny 1 and James, 2, were near death from starvation They had been without food from Dec. 13 when the shootings apparently occurred until the bodies were found Johnny subsequently died.

Man Fined Following Beating

Mansfielder Struck Over Head With Gun

Despite the fact that his own shotgun was splintered over his head, James C. Anderson, rear of 231 North Adams street, was fined $10 and costs in municipal court today for intoxication.

The police reported that Anderson was involved in an argument with Willie Langley, 84 East Sixth street, yesterday evening. Anderson got his shotgun and in the ensuing scuffle at Anderson's home, the gun was discharged into the home.

Langley then seized the weapon and beat Anderson on the head until the gun stock was splintered, police said. Anderson was treated at General hospital and then held on the intoxication charge.

The prosecutor's office today was investigating the case.

WINS ACQUITTAL

Beauford F. Glover, 360 Marshall avenue, arrested in connection with the Saturday night beating of Widd Mullett, rear of 118 East Temple court, and his son, Journal, Boyle road, won an acquittal on an assault and battery charge. Judge H. H. Schettler ruled the evidence was insufficient.

Marie Clark, Fairfax avenue, who was charged with threatening in a menacing manner, also won an acquittal. The affidavit was signed by Willodean Rhodes.

The judge told the four or five families that showed up to testify that the next time a neighborhood battle was reported, he was going to order the sheriff to lock up all those involved and hold them as material witnesses.

Charles E. Lewis, Mansfield, R. D. 5, and Norman Mosier, Mansfield, R. D. 4, both charged with having improper lights were fined $5 and costs each.

New Trial Sought

A motion for a new trial was filed today by George Edwin Fort and Warren Crandall Fort in common pleas court. They were defendants in an action brought by Nick Miller, 113 East Luther Place, owner of the body and fender shop bearing his name.

Miller won an order requiring the Forts, as owners of the Fort Auto Electric service, to remove a retaining wall from Miller's property, Miller contended the wall endangered his building.

The court ordered that Miller recover the costs of his action. A $5,000 damage action was continued.

In their motion for a new trial, the Forts contend the judgment was contrary to the evidence and to law. They also claimed there were several errors at the trial, to which they had taken exception at the time.

At the same time, they filed a notice of intention to appeal, based on question of law and fact.

Attorneys Weldon, Huston and Keyser represent the Forts.

Dance Revue Opens Friday

Four presentations of "Floral Festival," the annual Ethyl Battin revue, will be given Friday and Saturday in the Senior high school auditorium. The revue will be presented both days at 2 and 8 p. m.

On Friday afternoon children of the Richland County Children's Home will be guests of Miss Battin and on Saturday afternoon the Sisters from St. Peter's Catholic church will occupy a special section in the auditorium.

The revue this year will include dance, ballet and musical numbers with Harold McCuen acting as narrator and commentator. The story concerns the people of the happy land of "Bouquet" over whom a witch casts an evil spell. The release of the land through the charm of "Fleurette," played by Miss Jeroma Gentille, and the aid of Prince Charming or Sir Garland as he is called in the story, makes a happy and prettily arranged plot.

Miss Battin will dance two numbers during the revue.

Ex-Policeman Dies In Indiana

Charles R. Bailey, a former member of the Mansfield police force, died Tuesday in I. I. S. H. hospital at LaFayette, Ind., where he had been a patient for several weeks. Complications of a weak heart and dropsy caused his death.

He will be buried in Terre Haute, Ind., cemetery beside his wife, Belle, who died three years ago.

Force Sails Despite Loss

NORFOLK, Va. —(INS)— A 12-ship naval task force was enroute to the Mediterranean today to replace fleet units after losing 28 men who were drowned when a motor launch capsized off Hampton Roads, Va.

Eighteen sailors and ten marines lost their lives while returning in the 50-foot barge from a party at Norfolk to the aircraft carrier Kearsarge. There were 68 survivors among the 96 men aboard the craft.

The disaster occurred Monday night when storm-swept seas swamped the launch several hundred yards from the carrier and tossed the men into the dark waters.

The task force was scheduled to sail at 5 a. m. yesterday but the tragedy delayed its departure until late in the day.

Sixty-five of the men were fished out of the water by launches and rescue boats which quickly sped to the scene of the accident while three others swam two miles to shore.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1948

One observer suggests that if President Truman's western tour is to be nonpolitical it might as well be postponed until after the election.

Chiang Kai-shek promises that, as president, he will wipe out corruption in China, and—if he succeeds—some American cities should be interested in learning his formula.

Noting the little attention being given spelling in Mansfield public schools, it is not at all surprising that this city presented no contender for honors in the recent national spelling bee.

Future of Bus Service Assured

CONFIDENCE in the good intentions of Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., has been evidenced by city council's grant of a 15-year franchise for bus transportation service in this city, thus assuring the permanency that will warrant contemplated considerable investment in additional equipment and facilities.

An earlier change from street cars to buses permitted expansion of mass transportation service beyond the limits of tracks which for many years occupied space in the middle of a number of city streets.

Some cities adopted trackless trolleys as a transition stage between street cars and buses, while tracks are still retained in parts of some large cities as a means of accommodating more passengers than is possible in even the large buses now available.

In cities the size of Mansfield, however—and making allowance for probable growth—bus transportation is being favored because of its greater flexibility of service, and it may be hoped that the encouragement given by the grant of a long-term franchise will result in the officials of Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., determining to give the people of this community a public transportation system which will merit high commendation from all who use it.

Traffic Light for Marion Avenue

ACTION of city council in approving installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Marion and Bartley avenues is to be commended. As previously pointed out, there are now no lights on the entire length of Marion avenue, one of the main city traffic arteries, and the street has become a veritable speedway. Dashing automobiles have become a menace to children attending Brinkerhoff school and to parents and youngsters who must cross the street to get to any one of the several shopping centers.

The new light will not only help provide a safe crossing, it should tend to check the speed of drivers who will no longer have an unobstructed race-way along the street.

Council's traffic committee explained that it chose the Bartley crossing because it is the only square intersection. Other streets on the east-west stretch come into Marion avenue at an angle. The selection seems reasonable on this basis.

It is to be hoped that motorists will now do their share by observing the light signals carefully and voluntarily cutting down their speed.

World Trade Must Be Reciprocal

AT THE ROOT of the congressional move to hamstring the reciprocal trade agreement program is the old idea that imports are harmful, that they destroy industry at home. The authors and supporters of the House-approved bill to limit the program believe that curbs are necessary to make sure that a reckless administration does not make tariff concessions which would destroy American industries.

The language of the measure goes further. It says that the tariff commission would have to certify with respect to any proposed trade agreement that it would not harm the American industry involved.

This idea may seem good at first glance. But is is short-sighted. It fails to give full value to the fact that American industry needs an export market, and that buyers cannot pay for American goods unless they can in turn sell goods to America. A tariff to protect one industry from the supposed harm of competition might turn out to be a stifling influence over all trade.

The whole American economy, domestic as well as international, needs more reciprocal trade, not less.

Council Taking Time About Time

WHATEVER else may appear in the controversy over whether Mansfield should be on "fast" or "slow" time during the summer months, members of city council can certainly be credited with pursuing a deliberate course in the matter.

If there is to be a change from the original decision to continue on Eastern standard time this summer, it seems unlikely that the change would become effective before the middle of July, by which time any claimed advantages of the change would be almost over.

Also, it may appear, such a belated change might be more confusing than ever to townfolks as well as non-residents who come here to trade or for professional services.

Movement toward submitting the time-change proposal to voters at the November election seems quite proper action, with the understanding, of course, that majority preference should determine year-after-year procedure rather than that there should be an annual squabble over this issue.

One chiropodist confidently predicts that "feet, as we know them now, are on the way out"—at least they show indications of escaping from some of the modern shoes.

As the Kansas City Star views it: "It is felt that the present pension average should enable the old folks to get along, if they only live one day a month."

In New York a 68-year-old man became the father of triplets—and his social security will probably come in right handy.

It is commented of Truman, "Never have so many in Congress voted so little to a president who asked so much."

Putting It Further Out of Reach.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Tough Battle Ahead for John L. Lewis

WASHINGTON—There is more than meets the eye in John L. Lewis' actions. Apparently he realizes that 1948 may witness one of his toughest battles for a new wage contract covering his 400,000 soft coal miners.

In the past when the going got tough, Lewis' strategy has been to split up the operators; pick off a group for a pattern settlement, and then force it on the others. He might have had the same tactics in mind this year.

A nationwide wage conference would confront the UMW with some tough opposition. Apparently Lewis has felt that the main resistance would come from the Southern association; the steel-owned "captive" mine group, and the western Pennsylvania-Ohio-northern West Virginia group.

This trio combined represents about 300 million tons of coal production annually while the total tonnage in a national bargaining parley is only 450 million.

Hence, by seeking to eliminate the Southern association, Lewis may have hoped to reduce resistance to his demands. The Southern group represents 158 million tons of production annually.

* * *

Truman's Toughness.

Labor observers believe President Truman's decision against negotiation of a government contract with the three strike-threatening rail unions for the period of federal seizure stems from the unhappy 1946 experience with Lewis.

Six months after Lewis signed a "generous" contract with the government, his coal miners struck. This brought a bitter court fight, forcing the miners back to work and compelling Lewis and the United Mine Workers to pay $710,000 in fines.

Apparently that cured Mr. Truman of authorizing the government seizure agency to negotiate contracts with strike-threatening unions.

Army Secretary Kenneth Royall turned down the firemen, engineers and switchmen when they expressed hope that he would sign an interim wage agreement. Royall said he had no authority to negotiate. The result is a stalemate that may force the government to hold the railroads indefinitely.

* * *

Civil Rights Side-Stepped.

There is virtually no chance that the civil rights legislation asked by Mr. Truman will become law at this session of Congress. The anti-lynching or anti-poll tax bill will be called up in the Senate, but passage chances are nil.

House Republican leaders have said that they will not pass any civil rights bills until the Senate acts. They argue that it is useless to send bills to the Senate to be pigeon-holed.

In the Senate, neither the lynch nor poll tax measures will come up until the rush is on to clean up "must" legislation in time for adjournment before the June 21 GOP convention date.

Thus all signs point to a recurrence of what has happened in the Senate many times. That is the calling up of a civil rights bill, a Southern filibuster for a few days, and the laying aside of the civil rights measure so "must" measures can be cleared.

* * *

Senate Hurdle.

Prospects aren't very bright that the Senate will approve House-passed bills to control communists and force the administration to reveal confidential information to Congress.

Of the two, the Mundt-Nixon anti-communist bill has the best chance of Senate action although the outlook is none too good. The Hoffman resolution on secret information is virtually dead despite overwhelming House approval.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Sunday, June 3, 1928.

Article told that Congress had provided $75,000,000 to speed military and commercial air development.

Increase in number of automobiles was mentioned as showing need for municipal parking lot. (Can you imagine that—and nothing done about it yet!)

Eli D. Wade, 79, died at his home, 97 Church court. He was retired employe of state reformatory.

Richard Barthelmess in "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" was screen attraction at the Madison.

Eldon Arbaugh, student at OSU, was at his Lexington avenue home for the week-end.

Clarence E. Shiplet and family, 109 Helen avenue, left for Waterloo, Ia., where he was to become factory manager of Construction Machinery company.

Miss Mathilde Hautzenroeder and Miss Marie Jacot of Mansfield were listed among graduates from Wooster college.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Eight years ago today, on June 3, 1940 the evacuation of Dunkirk was completed. The evacuation began on May 28 and within a week 224,585 British and 112,546 French and Belgian troops were evacuated by 222 Royal Navy and 665 other British craft.

Washington Calling

South Resents Coercion

By MARQUIS CHILDS

ON EVERY political front, in Congress and out, the issue finally gets down to how power is to be exercised under the American form of government. We are facing the fact that, with responsibility divided between the states and the federal government, there are gaping holes in which no authority can function.

The absence of any government—anarchy—may be in theory a highly desirable condition.

What is more, change will come in the yeasty time in which we are living. It will come through the processes of democracy, or it will come in ways that can only be harmful and destructive to what we cherish most.

These thoughts are stirred by an editorial in the Mobile, Ala., Press. The editorial agrees that there is a threat to freedom in recent proposals to curb information and thought. True, says the editorial, this is the "shadow of the police state."

But it goes on to say that President Truman's civil-rights program is likewise the shadow of a coercive state. The language used is strong:

"One particularly alarming measure endorsed by the President is the FEPC bill. That shadow of the police state grows even darker when one studies carefully this measure, which would create a dictatorial agency that could destroy the constitutional rights of citizens. This bureaucratic agency could tell an employer whom he could hire or not hire. It could dictate to unions as to membership, forcing them to admit persons they did not want.

"The FEPC measure would set up an army of spies traveling throughout the United States. Operatives of this gestapo-like agency would have the power to act as complainant, prosecutor, judge and jury. The FEPC is a step toward the destruction of free enterprise."

* * *

Point to Changes.

POLITICAL demagogy and expediency to one side, here is the root of the southern revolt against the Truman proposals. It is in the profound fear or coercion—of having an alien way of life imposed by force which would shatter a pattern cherished with blood and tears.

This feeling is deep and real and it cannot be brushed aside as mere rhetoric. If any proof were needed, it is in the reaction of southern liberals such as Hodding Carter of Greenville, Miss., who have considered themselves New Dealers. They cannot accept the imposition of the civil-rights program by the federal government.

Visiting the South even briefly, you realize that southerners are acutely aware of what the rest of the country may be thinking. They want to believe that their way of life is good, is workable and is capable of change.

What is more, they want the visitor to believe it. They tell him of changes—of how the Negro members of northern football teams came to he South and played with their teams against the all-white teams of the South.

To the northerner, who brings his own prejudices with him, these changes are likely to seem very small gains indeed. He may argue that, if progress in granting equal opportunity is to be so slow, then the rest of the country will begin to believe the President's program may be necessary.

Two facts tend to becloud the passionate belief of the honest southerner in freedom and in the rights of separate states and the individual man. One is that some southern interests seem determined to keep a lower wage differential based mainly on the Negro for economic gain.

The other and more damaging fact is that so many southern representatives in Congress seem always ready to vote for the measures that repress and coerce those whom they do not like. You cannot claim rights and freedoms for yourself that you constantly seek to deny to others.

Aid-to-Education Bill Almost Rescued

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In the minds of most people, the thorny problem of John L. Lewis is far removed from the problem of American education. Yet, through no fault of his, Lewis got into the middle of the battle over federal aid to education. In fact, he nearly did the teachers a good turn.

Here is the inside story of what happened. The chief, though secret, opponents of the federal-aid-to-education bill are Speaker Joe Martin and G.O.P. Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana. They have decided that this $300,000,000 grant to the nation's schools is not going to pass this session, even though it has already passed the Senate and with the backing of such Republican leaders as Senator Taft.

However, since it isn't politically popular to oppose education, especially with the nation's schools in their present condition, Speaker Martin and Halleck have passed the buck to Congressman Fred Hartley of New Jersey, chairman of the education and labor committee.

Hartley isn't running for re-election, while Martin has presidential ambitions, and, secretly, so has Charlie Halleck. Thus it has been more convenient to let Hartley take the rap for blocking education, and it was announced that he was holding up the Senate bill in his committee.

This worked well until John L. Lewis went on a coal-strike rampage recently, causing Hartley to introduce a bill pinning Lewis's ears back. Simultaneously Speaker Martin stepped in, pulled some fast footwork with Lewis, and helped to settle the strike.

This infuriated Hartley. There is no man in public life whom he admires less than John L. Lewis and, as a result of Speaker Martin's intervention, Hartley's anti-Lewis law became unnecessary.

So, out of spite, Hartley threatened to report the aid-to-education bill out of his education committee. This, he figured, was a good way of getting even with Martin.

In the end, the Speaker persuaded Hartley he had been working too hard, told him to take a six-week vacation. He did.

Hartley has now come back, meekly willing to cooperate with Republican leaders in playing politics with the nation's schools. Unless the teachers find some real political dynamite, the education bill will not be passed at this session.

Note—Meanwhile literacy in the U.S.A. has sunk to the same point as in Russia. Proportionately, far more Japanese can read and write than can Americans.

* * *

Salesmen Lose Benefits.

THE HOUSE ways and means committee really is ringing the cash register for upper-bracket taxpayers. Not content with reducing gift and inheritance taxes, the committee now is going to the rescue of corporations in a bill revising social security taxes.

Highlight of the bill, prepared by G.O.P. representative Dan Reed of New York, is a definition of "employe" based on the 18th century British "Master-Servant" principle. Reed defines an employe as "one over whom an employer exercises such control as to make him an employe at common law."

Anyone outside this category cannot go on social security rolls. This automatically excludes salesmen and other semi-independent job-holders who work on commissions.

More important, it relieves corporations employing them, such as insurance companies, of the burden of social security taxes.

To offset this big loophole, the Reed Bill adds two minor employe groups to the rolls—members of charitable and other non-profit organizations and employes of state, local and county governments. However, such employes can be enrolled only on a voluntary basis.

Approximately 20,000,000 workers now are barred from social security benefits. An advisory council of experts headed by ex-Secretary of State Edward Stettinius recently recommended coverage for many of these ineligibles, including farm workers, domestic servants, the self-employed, the armed forces, civil servants, railroad workers and others.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce also has gone on record for liberal revisions of the law and the Republican party itself pledged social security improvements in its 1944 platform. However, Congressman Reed and his G. O. P. colleagues apparently consider this pledge "campaign oratory."

He'd Admired Hitler.

IN THE past, the ambassadorship to Egypt has not been considered a lush diplomatic plum. It's significant, therefore, that a strong pro-Arab friend of Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, Stanton Griffis, is being switched from ambassador to Poland to ambassador to Egypt.

Before Pearl Harbor, Griffis made a remark at the New York home of Dr. Foster Kennedy to the effect that Hitler was one of the great men of the world. The remark created such a furor that Griffis was asked to leave the Kennedy home.

Later when Griffis was appointed ambassador to Poland, Dr. Kennedy came to Washington to testify against him before Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's foreign relations committee. Despite this, Vandenberg put through the confirmation, perhaps because Griffis had the vigorous support of a fellow investment banker, Secretary Forrestal.

Naturally, the Poles, whose territory Hitler first invaded, weren't pleased at having a Hitler-admirer as their ambassador. So Griffis, bored with Poland, first angled to become ambassador to England, now has settled for Egypt. Pro-Arab Secretary Forrestal wants a pro-Arab ambassador in the country now spearheading the drive against Palestine.

Assignment: America

Learn About 'Desk Men'

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—This is one for the boys who, for my money, are the unsung heroes of the constant, daily conflict to keep America and the world informed as to the passing events.

Thy are the desk men—the editors, the copy readers, the headline writers, the assignment bosses and, inevitably, the fall guys.

You rarely, if ever, see their bylines, although many a man among them is a better writer—and often better reporter—than those whose copy daily passes under their pencils.

But the crime that ties them to the drudging anonymity of a desk job is that often they are even better editors than they are reporters or writers.

The curious phase of their anonymity is that it exists only on the credit side of the ledger. That is to say, if a top reporter turns in a good story, or a ranking columnist comes through with a hot piece, the credit goes to the guy whose byline rides above the chunk of imperishable prose.

But if, in all that heart-throbbing copy, there is a single error of fact which somehow happened to slip through, or if there is an opening for a potential libel suit, it is the desk man who passed on such prose who usually winds up taking the rap.

True, some of the so-and-so's who hold down these desk jobs are unmentionable sons of unmentionables. They couldn't write their own names if they had their birth certificates to copy, and yet they act like Shakespeare's second cousin when it comes to carving somebody else's copy. Probably they're frustrated.

Even with all their faults, the desk men who handle the day's grist of news in comparative anonymity — and usually without compensating pay—are, for my money, the real human anchors for our democratic free press.

* * *

Credit Goes to Others.

FOR ONE THING, they can't afford to have opinions, in most cases. Particularly on news services, the desk men must remain mentally objective. The reported or columnist may get overheated about the story he's covering, and often does.

He can offord to risk going off balance on such a story because he knows the desk man is backing him up, and will chop it if it gets too rank.

Also, it's the desk man who calls up and says that Old-So-and-So has just popped up in the news, and wouldn't it be a good idea for you to get an interview with the guy before everybody else gets there.

You do, and you get a byline piece out of it. Editors say you're a pretty sharp newsman for getting ahead of the others, and readers opine as how you're a guy who is really in there with the right dope and all the time it was the desk man's tip that fixed it for you.

Or else you're under pressure so heavy that all you can do is bark phrases over the phone—disconnected phrases—and the desk man shoves a chunk of copy paper into his mill and beats out a quick piece with the facts you gave him, and puts your byline over it.

I know at least one Pulitzer prize winner who was a good leg man but couldn't write for sour apples. He should have given the $500 prize to a certain desk man in New York who made readable prose out of his disjointed reports.

Then the desk man is the one who has to worry about whether you get your copy in on time or not. And he has to read it carefully, no matter how sleepy he is, realizing all the time that if it's all right he'll get no credit, but if one little old date is wrong he'll get the blame for letting it pass through without correction.

Yes, they're the unsung heroes all right. And since this correspondent—as of the end of the next paragraph—is starting off on a two-weeks vacation, this seemed to be a good time to pay them a tribute.

For actually, with one less guy's copy to fret about, it's really their vacation, too!

Farmer's Diary

Lore of Catfish Ridge

By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE LIVED at Hickory Bottom when I was very young. In this lovely wooded valley there were no railroads, no telephones, motor cars and radio still unheard-of. Only a turnpike maintained and built by a private company connected us with the world outside the valley—and every few miles a tollgate was a familiar sight. Here a long pole, with a weighty box of stone near the pivot end, barred the highway, until the bicycle rider had paid his penny, or the driver of a buggy or wagon a larger coin. Then a tug at a rope from the tollkeepers window, and up went the bar, and on went traffic. (I used to ride my bicycle to high school at Roaring Springs.)

No railroad came near us, but during threatening weather we could hear the distant movement of locomotives and trains of cars between neighboring ridges.

Instead of motor trucks to haul our produce to market, we had a huckster who owned a long covered wagon of seasoned hickory with heavy canvas stretched and tacked over the frame until, to a small boy, it was like a house inside.

This man came regularly to buy eggs and butter, cheese, lard, dried fruits, or early butchering. Bunches of teas, homemade applebutter, chestnuts from the mountain, hickory nuts, black walnuts—the huckster would set a price for everything. Veal calves and poultry he poultry he bought alive, and loaded them into racks, at the rear.

His name was Immler and he had sandy hair and freckles that stood out prominently when the light was right. In one large hip pocket he carried a bag of coins, soiled from much handling and heavy to handle. He always paid in cash for everything he bought. It was my mothers only source of pin money which she kept in a sugar bowl on the cupboard shelf—sacrosant and respected by her offspring.

One day Immler came in glum and unlike himself. He sat by the kitchen table and figured up what he owed my mother nervously. I sat in the chimney corner, all eyes and ears as usual.

"Ma'am," he said, very low and apologetic, "I cant pay you cash today. I've had trouble—I was robbed last night coming down Catfish ridge. It was foggy and dark through those pines, and a woman walked down the wet road with a basket in her hand, so I stopped my team, though they champed at the bit to get on down to Catfish House. I always stay there overnight, and go on to Altoona market in the morning. When she gave me her basket, something clanked and rattled inside, and I managed to get a squint by knocking the cover half off—there were three big knives and two pistols with hammers set. The woman was veiled, I thought fast, and then stuck my head over the side, so my hat fell off. I asked her kindly if she would step down and get it for me, and when she did I lammed the team, and went off hollering like twas a runaway.

"I felt real smart until I got to the inn and reached to pay my lodging. My money bag was gone. All I had for it was three knives and two pistols—a posse went back up the trail and found a chain stretched across, from one side to the other. They said "Immler lost his money, but luckily not his head."

MISS EVELYN HARTWELL MARRIED AT ALBANY, GA.

R. E. Hartwells Return to Mansfield After Daughter's Wedding to Staff Sgt. Sullivan.

MR. AND MRS. R. E. HARTWELL, 491 Overlook road, recently returned from Albany, Ga., where they attended the wedding of their daughter, Evelyn, and S/Sgt. Gene F. Sullivan. The marriage was solemnized at 10:30 a. m. Saturday, May 29, in the First Presbyterian church in Albany with the Rev. Jack Hand officiating for the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride wore an aqua suit with white accessories and her corsage was a white orchid. Her only attendant was Miss Gladys Scott of Albany, who wore a white dress with green accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

S/Sgt. Sullivan's best man was M/Sgt. Orville Stark who is stationed with the bridegroom at Turner Field, Albany, Ga.

The bride's mother chose a black and white print dress with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

After the wedding a luncheon was served in the dining room of the Hotel Gordon at Albany. The table was decorated with white carnations and greenery and centered with a tiered wedding cake.

The only other out-of-town guest at the wedding was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Robert Eichhorn, Galion.

The bride was formerly employed in the office of the M. O'Neil company and her husband, who is well known in Mansfield, has served the past five years with the army. He is a cousin of Mrs. Louis Wiparina, 334 Second avenue, and a brother of Miss Sandra Sullivan, West Third street.

The couple will reside at Albany while the bridegroom is stationed there.

OLD-NEW LOOK

A wonderful way to make an ankle length dress to do double duty is to make it with a button up hem. That way it can be worn to dinner at night and buttoned up to the shorter length for afternoon wear. This is a particularly good method wth a cotton sunback frock.

American Nurses' Association Sponsors National Contest

THE SEARCH is on for "Miss Allegro, R. N." The American Nurses' Association, in cooperation with the Theater Guild, announces a nationwide contest, to select among the 320,000 registered professional nurses on active duty in the United States, the young woman who "on the basis of her appearance and qualifications, best symbolizes the ideals of the American nursing profession."

The winning nurse, to be known as "Miss Allegro, R. N.," will be given a week's stay at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, and treated to an exciting round of social activities, including attendance at four of Broadway's hit shows, topped off with a back-stage party given in her honor by the cast of "Alllegro." She will be entertained at the Stork club and other famous clubs, after being awarded a citation as "Miss Allegro, R. N.," in a presentation ceremony to be held Monday, July 12, at the Waldorf-Astoria.

In addition, the winning nurse will be given six nylon nurse uniforms, especially tailored for her, identical with the one worn by Lisa Kirk in the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical. As played by Miss Kirk, the key role of the nurse inspired the contest, according to Ella Best, ANA executive secretary.

So long as she is a registered professional nurse, it makes no difference in which field a contestant is employed, the sponsors of the contest wish to emphasize. She may specialize in private duty or hospital staff work, in public health, industrial, school, Army or Navy nursing, or any other branch of the profession. Through the interest aroused by the contest, it is hoped to stimulate recruitment of student nurses.

"The nursing profession can use 40,000 to 45,000 additional young women immediately," Miss Best stated. "For eight months the American Nurses' association has been directing public attention to the nursing shortage, which, unless overcome in time, may well have serious effects on the health of the nation."

Theresa Helburn and Lawrence Langner, Theatre Guild co-directors, will serve as judges of the contest, along with Miss Best; Colonel Mary G. Phillips, chief of the Army Nurse Corps; Captain Nellie Jane DeWitt, director of the Navy Nurse Corps; Gladys Swarthout, and Elsa Maxwell.

A nurse wishing to enter the "Miss Allegro, R. N." contest has only to complete an entry blank and send it in, accompanied by a 25-cent piece and a photograph of herself taken within the past two years. The money collected will be turned over, at the end of the contest to the American Overseas Aid—U. N. Appeal for Children. Entry blanks for the contest are available at all state and district nurses' associations. Copies may also be obtained by writing to "Miss Allegro, R. N." Contest, P. O. Box 283, Radio City Station, New York 19, New York. It was stressed that all entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, June 30.

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Suddenly it's almost summer . . . the bathing beauty season. Lack-a-day, if you'd only started reducing that first day of spring! There's still time to beslim by June 21st, ten pounds slimmer anyway . . . and that can make a delightful difference in the fit of a swim suit.

The easiest way out of avoirdupois at any season is to accentuate the positive . . . and eliminate the pounds. So many reducing instructions are of the "don't" variety: don't eat this . . . don't eat that . . . don't eat the other thing. The list is long and takes in most of your favorite foods. My method is the opposite. Eat—eggs, cottage cheese or yellow cheese, four ounces of fish or lean meat, have two glasses of skim milk or buttermilk, a liberal amount of green and yellow vegetables, lots of tomatoes, cabbage, celery and lettuce, and have two or three fresh fruits daily. Limit the bread to one slice per meal, and butter to one-fourth pat per meal. Plan the three meals a day around these foods and you will be well fed on about 1100 calories a day.

That list of protective foods takes care of the hidden hunger we hear so much about, and once hidden hunger is banished it doesn't take much will power to reduce. The foods which furnish the essential nutrients to banish hidden hunger are the very ones that stiffen the back bone. Then you don't crave the rich desserts—as much.

Overweights who have considerable excess to lose—say 50 to 75 pounds—write that after two or three days on a reducing diet they feel weak and dragged out. This won't happen if all the dietary requirements are met. With the modern knowledge of nutrition it is possible to provide every essential so that only the stored calories are drawn on to make up the calorie deficit. By making use of the vitamin concentrates, and having one capsule a day furnishing vitamins A, B1, B2, C and D, the reducer can have an abundance of vitamins on a low calorie diet. This steps up the dieter's feeling of well-being and actually makes it easier to stay on the diet.

Of course, even on a perfectly balanced diet there will be a few hunger pangs when the bulk of food is cut down. But this lasts only for three or four days.

Protect From Fears the Child Who Is a Worrier, Says Doctor

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IF YOU and I were to dwell long and often on the dangers from all the disease germs about us, and probably in the cleanest foods we eat or touch, we might go insane. An occasional adult does suffer from severe fears (phobias) and anxieties over such matters.

Such phobias and anxieties can arise from letting the imagination run riot and from failing to balance values. In the young child who may be over-sensitive about dangers, warnings, fears and the like expressed by adults, a great deal of worry can arise. You see he has very limited experience with which to check his ideas and imaginings.

SHIFT ATTENTION

Fortunately, however, most young children so much less fixed in their ways of acting, thinking and feeling are much more ready to shift their attention and interest and activity than is the average adult. So it is rather unusual for a child to be so disturbed over matters of germs as the little child described in this letter.

"Dear Dr. Meyers: We have three girls, 4, 5, and 6. In the last week our five-year-old has started something new. We appreciate cleanliness but she is carrying it to extremes. She will not eat a thing which has fallen from her plate to the tablecloth and she will remark at least five times at a meal that something has fallen to the tablecloth and that she can't eat it because it is dirty.

CRACKED HANDS

"She has washed her hands so much that the backs have cracked and bled in spite of lotion applied each night. If she touches a crayon she will run up to wash her hands. Then she will ask if she is going to die if she puts a toy or something in her mouth. I have tried to ignore her, thinking she would stop but she keeps it up from the time she gets home from kindergarten until we put her to bed at night. She has made such an issue about all this that I am becoming worried."

As I wrote this mother, this problem will undoubtedly pass if the other children and nobody else makes anything of it. Just calmly tell her in a matter-of-fact way she doesn't need to eat food that has dropped to the tablecloth or that she will not die if she puts a toy in her mouth. But be sure to express no ridicule nor talk about it to others in her presence.

PROTECT FROM FEARS

Try to protect her from fears and anxieties expressed by adults. Provide her with a serene, hopeful, cheery atmosphere, with lots of tenderness, affection and love. Try to make her feel she is as loved as the other children are. Read to her but not fearful stories, encourage her at making and doing things with her hands and playing freely with other children of her age. Cuddle her when she welcomes cuddling.

Treat all her questions and remarks with great respect. If the phenomena should continue several weeks, it might be well to consult a psychiatrist for helping you provide the right atmosphere and guidance for this child. Remember, you and Dad can do most to make this child secure and happy, as you work on yourselves. (My bulletin, "The Nervous Child," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

Attractive Arms Are a Beauty Asset

By HELEN JAMESON
(MME `UI VIVE)

Comes now the season when arms are out in the open. It would be well for a woman to have a look-see at hers now and then. All the beautifying goes to the curly locks, the gardenia complexion, the rosy finger tips and, maybe, the figure. For feminine fins there are no cosmetics or general solacements. They get along on their own, as best they can. That's bad. Beautiful arms are a grand and glorious pulchritude asset.

The skin on the arms, lacking cosmetic attention, is often unsightly, rough, red or pebbly with gooseflesh. In beauty shops, you can have a hand and arm massage that will bring almost immediate improvement. With the help of the sister or the mama of the family, you can have this treatment in your home. "You do my arms, I'll do yours." A nice little game for two girls to play.

First, a rousing scrubbing with warm soap suds and a heavy brush. Scour like everything from finger tips to shoulders, fluffing up a rich suds. Rinse well, dry thoroughly.

A massage follows. If you must keep an eye on the good looks budget, substitute lanoline or cocoabutter for cream; both cost considerably less, both are excellent mediums for soothing the skin, refining the texture.

Start at the fingernails, forcing the lanoline into the surrounding cuticle. Thumb your knuckles well. Give your elbows a few creamy wallops; elbows are seldom what they should be. The flesh is coarse there, likely to be grey.

Form a bracelet of fingers and thumb, go edging up from wrist to shoulder, moving the arm on which the fingers work so there is firm pressure. Smooth from wrist to shoulder with the palm of the hand; you will remove dead skin scales that are ever present, give the flesh a rough appearance.

In a large tin salt shaker place some cosmetic meal; you can get this delightful toiletry at any cosmetic counter. Sprinkle over the oil to form a pack.

Right here is where you need help. Have someone wring large turkish towels out of steaming hot water, wrap them around your arms. Repeat half a dozen times. Remove the pack with the moist towel, dry well, have a friction with borated talcum.

If your arms are inclined to freckle, rub them with the pulp of a lemon at night. Don't be scornful of this old-fashioned bleach, it really works.

Scrawny arms are due to malnutrition or finicky eating habits, no external application will make them plump and beautiful, put dimples in the elbows. The best cure will be found in consuming a quart of rich milk a day, having a hot cereal for breakfast, a bowl of crackers and milk at bed time.

Kitchen Shower for a June Bride

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you have a "shower for a June bride" on your party list there are lots of interesting ways you can vary this proverbial entertaining. When a young friend of mine married recently I gave her a kitchen towel shower which was lots of fun. About a dozen friends came for supper and the bride-to-be got a most attractive and practical assortment of dish towels. I like the one I found for her—it had a recipe printed on it!

If you want ideas for showers there are two good books on the subject. One is called "The Cokesbury Shower Book" by Katherine Fite and Garland Clawson Paine, published by the Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, New York and Nashville. The other is "Showers for Brides and Babies" by Nina L. and Eudora V. Pond, published by the Medford Publishing Company, Medford, Okla.

Another fine kind of a party to give a bride is a cookbook shower. The hostess might start off by giving the guest of honor a copy of the recent "Cookbook for Brides," by Dorothy Malone, published by A. A. Wyn, Inc., New York. Although in my estimation the perfect cookbook for brides has not yet been written there are lots of good things about this one. The author adds her own personal comments throughout the book which will not only be of practical help to the new housekeeper but will give her much-needed moral support.

Here is a recipe for a canape or sandwich spread from Miss Malone's book which you might like to serve at a shower.

SNAPPY CANAPE SPREAD

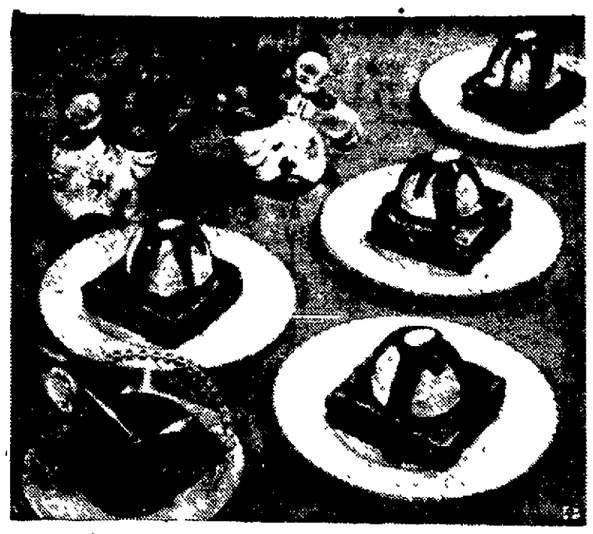
¾ pound American cheese
1 tablespoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne pepper, or ⅛ teaspoon
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons thick sweet cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Either put the cheese through the food chopper, or crumble it to bits and then mash it fine with a good strong fork. Add all of the rest of the ingredients in order, blending thoroughly. When you're finished, you ought to have a creamy spread, just stiff enough to hold its shape. The flavor, you will find, will be superb. Again, you can toast the crackers or if that seems like too much work on the eve of entertaining, spread it on ready-made toast, or plain saltines, and you can feed a multitude. This is an inexpensive spread which is not only good for about 50 canapes, but makes wonderful sandwich filling. This mixture can also be used to stuff table celery. Top the stuffing with a whole pecan.

And here is another recipe, from a test kitchen devoted to perfecting chocolate recipes, for a delicious shower dessert.

BROWNIES

½ cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits



BROWNIES . . . delicious party dessert

½ cup butter or fortified margarine
2 eggs, well beaten
1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup walnut meats, chopped

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Melt chocolate and butter or margarine over hot water. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and vanilla and beat until very thick and light colored. This will take from 5 to 10 mins. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture and blend. Stir in melted chocolate mixture which has been cooled. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased 8 or 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderately hot (375°F) oven about 30 minutes or until done. Cut in 9 or 12 large squares. Serve topped with vanilla ice cream and chocolate syrup.

CHOCOLATE SYRUP

1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits
½ cup sugar
1 cup hot water
⅛ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate over hot water and stir until smooth. Add sugar, hot water and salt and blend well. Place over direct heat and boil 3 minutes. Makes 2 cups syrup. Store in refrigerator.

Horoscope

For Friday, June 4
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A VERY clever and direct attack, with vim, skill, perhaps exceptional ingenuity or creative ability, in which a keen combination of alert and determined forces and faculties, should culminate in definite progress, of practical and enduring worth. Keen insight into possible accomplishment, noting the value of some change, newer arrangements or adjustments could assist to final objectives. The finer or more personal influences, emotions, or sagacity have power as well. System and technique should not be neglected, however.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are in sight of practical goals and important objectives, by a direct, quick and telling attack upon existing prospects or opportunities, in which method, system and sound organization with determined executive ability, are brought to bear upon major operations. There may be certain personal equations, or artistic or cultural, but sound, alert and forceful constructive qualities are essential for definite and lasting results.

A child born on this day has excellent qualities for a constructive career, with much force, keen faculties and readiness to grasp opportunity when it knocks.

Ida Jean Kain

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Suddenly it's almost summer . . . the bathing beauty season Lack a-day, if you'd only started reducing that first day of spring! There's still time to beslim by June 21st ten pounds slimmer anyway and that can make a delightful difference in the fit of a swim suit

The easiest way out of avoirdupois at any season is to accentuate the positive and eliminate the pounds So many reducing instructions are of the 'don't variety don't eat this don't eat that don't eat the other thing The list is long and takes in most of your favorite foods My method is the opposite Eat—eggs cottage cheese or yellow cheese four ounces of fish or lean meat have two glasses of skim milk or buttermilk a liberal amount of green and yellow vegetables, lots of tomatoes cabbage, celery and lettuce and have two or three fresh fruits daily Limit the bread to one slice per meal and butter to one-fourth pat per meal Plan the three meals a day around these foods and you will be well fed on about 1100 calories a day

That list of protective foods takes care of the hidden hunger we hear so much about, and once hidden hunger is banished it doesn't take much will power to reduce The foods which furnish the essential nutrients to banish hidden hunger are the very ones that stiffen the back bone Then you don't crave the rich desserts—as much

Overweights who have considerable excess to lose—say 50 to 75 pounds—write that after two or three days on a reducing diet they feel weak and dragged out This won't happen if all the dietary requirements are met With the modern knowledge of nutrition it is possible to provide every essential so that only the stored calories are drawn on to make up the calorie deficit By making use of the vitamin concentrates, and having one capsule a day furnishing vitamins A B1 B2 C and D the reducer can have an abundance of vitamins on a low calorie diet This steps up the dieter's feeling of well-being and actually makes it easier to stay on the diet

Of course even on a perfectly balanced diet there will be a few hunger pangs when the bulk of food is cut down But this lasts only for three or four days

Protect From Fears the Child Who Is a Worrier, Says Doctor

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IF YOU and I were to dwell long and often on the dangers from all the disease germs about us, and probably in the cleanest foods we eat or touch, we might go insane. An occasional adult does suffer from severe fears (phobias) and anxieties over such matters.

Such phobias and anxieties can arise from letting the imagination run riot and from failing to balance values. In the young child who may be over-sensitive about dangers, warnings, fears and the like expressed by adults, a great deal of worry can arise. You see he has very limited experience with which to check his ideas and imaginings.

SHIFT ATTENTION

Fortunately, however, most young children so much less fixed in their ways of acting, thinking and feeling are much more ready to shift their attention and interest and activity than is the average adult. So it is rather unusual for a child to be so disturbed over matters of germs as the little child described in this letter.

"Dear Dr. Meyers: We have three girls, 4, 5, and 6. In the last week our five-year-old has started something new. We appreciate cleanliness but she is carrying it to extremes. She will not eat a thing which has fallen from her plate to the tablecloth and she will remark at least five times at a meal that something has fallen to the tablecloth and that she can't eat it because it is dirty.

CRACKED HANDS

"She has washed her hands so much that the backs have cracked and bled in spite of lotion applied each night If she touches a crayon she will run up to wash her hands. Then she will ask if she is going to die if she puts a toy or something in her mouth. I have tried to ignore her, thinking she would stop but she keeps it up from the time she gets home from kindergarten until we put her to bed at night. She has made such an issue about all this that I am becoming worried."

As I wrote this mother, this problem will undoubtedly pass if the other children and nobody else makes anything of it. Just calmly tell her in a matter-of-fact way she doesn't need to eat food that has dropped to the tablecloth or that she will not die if she puts a toy in her mouth. But be sure to express no ridicule nor talk about it to others in her presence.

PROTECT FROM FEARS

Try to protect her from fears and anxieties expressed by adults. Provide her with a serene, hopeful, cheery atmosphere, with lots of tenderness, affection and love. Try to make her feel she is as loved as the other children are. Read to her but not fearful stories, encourage her at making and doing things with her hands and playing freely with other children of her age. Cuddle her when she welcomes cuddling.

Treat all her questions and remarks with great respect. If the phenomena should continue several weeks, it might be well to consult a psychiatrist for helping you provide the right atmosphere and guidance for this child. Remember, you and Dad can do most to make this child secure and happy, as you work on yourselves. (My bulletin, "The Nervous Child," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

Attractive Arms Are a Beauty Asset

By HELEN JAMESON
(MME `UI VIVE)

Comes now the season when arms are out in the open. It would be well for a woman to have a look-see at hers now and then. All the beautifying goes to the curly locks, the gardenia complexion, the rosy finger tips and, maybe, the figure. For feminine fins there are no cosmetics or general solacements. They get along on their own, as best they can. That's bad. Beautiful arms are a grand and glorious pulchritude asset.

The skin on the arms, lacking cosmetic attention, is often unsightly, rough, red or pebbly with gooseflesh. In beauty shops, you can have a hand and arm massage that will bring almost immediate improvement. With the help of the sister or the mama of the family, you can have this treatment in your home. "You do my arms, I'll do yours." A nice little game for two girls to play.

First, a rousing scrubbing with warm soap suds and a heavy brush. Scour like everything from finger tips to shoulders, fluffing up a rich suds. Rinse well, dry thoroughly.

A massage follows. If you must keep an eye on the good looks budget, substitute lanoline or cocoabutter for cream; both cost considerably less; both are excellent mediums for soothing the skin, refining the texture.

Start at the fingernails, forcing the lanoline into the surrounding cuticle. Thumb your knuckles well. Give your elbows a few creamy wallops; elbows are seldom what they should be. The flesh is coarse there, likely to be grey.

Form a bracelet of fingers and thumb, go edging up from wrist to shoulder, moving the arm on which the fingers work so there is firm pressure. Smooth from wrist to shoulder with the palm of the hand; you will remove dead skin scales that are ever present, give the flesh a rough appearance

In a large tin salt shaker place some cosmetic meal; you can get this delightful toiletry at any cosmetic counter. Sprinkle over the oil to form a pack.

Right here is where you need help. Have someone wring large turkish towels out of steaming hot water, wrap them around your arms. Repeat half a dozen times. Remove the pack with the moist towel, dry well, have a friction with borated talcum.

If your arms are inclined to freckle, rub them with the pulp of a lemon at night. Don't be scornful of this old-fashioned bleach: it really works.

Scrawny arms are due to malnutrition or finicky eating habits. no external application will make them plump and beautiful, put dimples in the elbows. The best cure will be found in consuming a quart of rich milk a day, having a hot cereal for breakfast, a bowl of crackers and milk at bed time.

Kitchen Shower for a June Bride

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you have a "shower for a June bride" on your party list there are lots of interesting ways you can vary this proverbial entertaining. When a young friend of mine married recently I gave her a kitchen towel shower which was lots of fun. About a dozen friends came for supper and the bride-to-be got a most attractive and practical assortment of dish towels. I like the one I found for her—it had a recipe printed on it!

If you want ideas for showers there are two good books on the subject. One is called "The Cokesbury Shower Book" by Katherine Fite and Garland Clawson Paine, published by the Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, New York and Nashville. The other is "Showers for Brides and Babies" by Nina L. and Eudora V. Pond, published by the Medford Publishing Company, Medford, Okla.

Another fine kind of a party to give a bride is a cookbook shower. The hostess might start off by giving the guest of honor a copy of the recent "Cookbook for Brides," by Dorothy Malone, published by A. A. Wyn, Inc., New York. Although in my estimation the perfect cookbook for brides has not yet been written there are lots of good things about this one. The author adds her own personal comments throughout the book which will not only be of practical help to the new housekeeper but will give her much-needed moral support.

Here is a recipe for a canape or sandwich spread from Miss Malone's book which you might like to serve at a shower.

SNAPPY CANAPE SPREAD

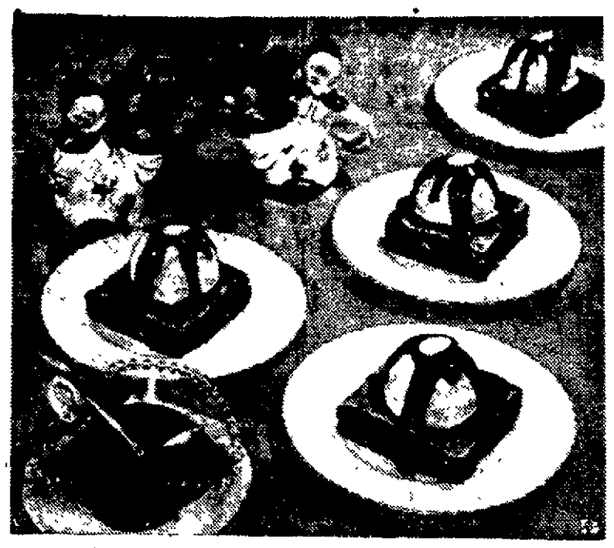
¾ pound American cheese
1 tablespoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon allspice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne pepper, or ⅛ teaspoon
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons thick sweet cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Either put the cheese through the food chopper, or crumble it to bits and then mash it fine with a good strong fork. Add all of the rest of the ingredients in order, blending thoroughly. When you're finished, you ought to have a creamy spread, just stiff enough to hold its shape. The flavor, you will find, will be superb. Again, you can toast the crackers or if that seems like too much work on the eve of entertaining. spread it on ready-made toast, or plain saltines, and you can feed a multitude. This is an inexpensive spread which is not only good for about 50 canapes, but makes wonderful sandwich filling. This mixture can also be used to stuff table celery. Top the stuffing with a whole pecan.

And here is another recipe, from a test kitchen devoted to perfecting chocolate recipes, for a delicious shower dessert.

BROWNIES

½ cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits



BROWNIES . . . delicious party dessert

½ cup butter or fortified margarine
2 eggs, well beaten
1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup walnut meats, chopped

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Melt chocolate and butter or margarine over hot water. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and vanilla and beat until very thick and light colored. This will take from 5 to 10 mins. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture and blend. Stir in melted chocolate mixture which has been cooled. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased 8 or 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderately hot (375°F.) oven about 30 minutes or until done. Cut in 9 or 12 large squares. Serve topped with vanilla ice cream and chocolate syrup.

CHOCOLATE SYRUP

1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits
½ cup sugar
1 cup hot water
⅛ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate over hot water and stir until smooth. Add sugar, hot water and salt and blend well. Place over direct heat and boil 3 minutes. Makes 2 cups syrup. Store in refrigerator.

A VERY clever and direct attack, with vim, skill, perhaps exceptional ingenuity or creative ability, in which a keen combination of alert and determined forces and faculties, should culminate in definite progress, of practical and enduring worth. Keen insight into possible accomplishment, noting the value of some change, newer arrangements or adjustments could assist to final objectives. The finer or more personal influences, emotions, or sagacity have power as well. System and technique should not be neglected, however.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are in sight of practical goals and important objectives, by a direct, quick and telling attack upon existing prospects or opportunities, in which method, system and sound organization with determined executive ability, are brought to bear upon major operations. There may be certain personal equations, or artistic or cultural, but sound, alert and forceful constructive qualities are essential for definite and lasting results.

A child born on this day has excellent qualities for a constructive career, with much force, keen faculties and readiness to grasp opportunity when it knocks.

Report Cites Need for Efficiency

Hoover Favors Governmental Changes

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Former President Herbert Hoover believes the govrnment neds "important structural changes" to make it more efficient and economical, it was disclosed today.

He also thinks the country has inadequate savings to maintain and improve the means of production and distribution on which its standard of living depends. Mr. Hoover's views on the need for government reorganization were revealed in a letter read Wednesday to the Senate by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge jr., (R-Mass).

HOOVER

The former president heads a bi-partisan commission set up to study government reorganization under a resolution sponsored by Lodge. Lodge told the Senate he had written Hoover asking for a progress report.

Mr. Hoover replied that the commission's study provided "the most formidable approach yet made to this national problem." Every President and Congress for 50 years have grappled with the problem, he said, but their efforts have been "fractional."

He noted that the government was making "regular payments" to 2,200,000 persons three years after the first world war compared with 13,400,000 three years after the second world war.

The comparable budget figures, he said, are $4,000,000,000, three years after the first war, and $40,000,000,000 after the second.

"There are insufficient savings left in the hands of the people to repair, maintain and improve the tools of production and distribution upon which our standard of living depends," he wrote "these figures obviously indicate the necessity for important structural changes in the government to secure the maximum efficiency and economy.

"Our field of inquiry not only concerns every citizen; it concerns the very strength and vitality of democracy itself. The success of this mission may well set the pattern for future joint participation by private citizens and government representatives on matters affecting national welfare."

Mansfielders Send Shoes to Europe

Mansfielders began contributing their old shoes to the European aid program today by dropping them in a large bin in the Brownell Shoe store.

The Brownell Shoe company is cooperating in the nation-wide old shoe drive to collect 200,000,000 pairs of shoes for the men, women and children of war devastated Europe and China.

The nation-wide campaign is being sponsored by the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

The shoes will be forwarded to the collection depot of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, New York, for immediate shipment overseas.

Arrangements are being made at the depot to send at least 6,000 pairs daily, Mrs. Edna Blue, international chairman of the plan, announced.

"When I visited Europe recently," Mrs. Blue said, "I saw mothers with rags tied on their feet carrying children who had no shoes, over the rubble.

"There were hundreds and hundreds of children who had lost feet and legs through frost-bite injuries which had become infected," she said.

M'Gregor Sponsors Housing Bill

Wants Campus Units Given to Schools

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A total of 129,000 temporary housing units now used by GI's on college campuses would be turned over to the schools without charge under legislation expected to come before the House next week.

Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio), sponsor of the bill, said Wednesday the rules committee has cleared the measure for debate.

The full public works group previously gave unanimous approval to the bill.

The housing units now on college and niversity campuses are owned by the federal government. McGregor said the present law provided they be removed or torn down by June 30, 1949.

Rents coming to the government from them total about $2,500,000 a year, or about $20 a unit, he said.

He added that maintenance costs exceed the rent money.

"Most of them," he told a reporter, "are beginning to need new roofs, new windows, new stoves and so on. They were built originally during the war emergency to last only a short period of time."

"They served their purpose in the war. If we try to move them, they would be of no use. But if they are given to the colleges, the schools could repair them, undoubtedly at far less cost than if the government did the work.

"They would be of some value to the colleges and universities for some time to come."

The bill provides that the units would be transferred to any educational institution which applied for them.

J. HARRY M'GREGOR

A similar measure has been introduced in the Senate. McGregor said Senate action is expected before the expected shutdown of Congress after mid-June. Senator Cain (R-Wash) said there is a good chance Congress would approve the idea quickly.

McGregor said 488,000 such temporary units were put up during the war at an original cost ranging from $2,200 to $2,400 each. Most of the remaining units are being used in low-rental housing projects established by cities and other groups.

McGregor's subcommittee also has had under consideration but taken no action on disposition of these other units.

McGregor said the National Association of American Colleges and Universities has approved his bill, and that many individual schools also have expressed approval.

Second Recount Starts Next Week

DAYTON—(AP)—A second recount of votes in the Third district primary race for Republican state senatorial nomination between I. E. Baker, Phillipsburg, and William Tyrrell, Eaton, is scheduled for next week.

Baker asked the recount in 45 Preble county and 17 Montgomery county precincts following the first recount in which Tyrrell won by 43 votes after picking up 54 from the original tabulation.

The first recount was made in 80 Montgomery county precincts after Baker had been declared winner by 11 votes in the official tabulation.

Voters Favor Present Site

GALION—By a four to one majority, residents and property owners of the North school district showed a preference to the present site for construction of the new $245,000 North elementary building in a vote cast yesterday at the North school.

The board of education had selected Heise park as the site for the school. Protests were so vigorous, however, that the board agreed to conduct an informal poll of the district.

Of the 410 votes cast, 310 favored a new school on the present site and 85 favored Heise park. Other votes went for other locations.

Results of the vote were given to the board president, Robert M. Corry. Tonight is the regular meeting date of the board.

Funds for building the new school were provided in the $615,000 bond issue approved last fall.

The remaining money will be used for building a new South elementary school and making improvements and repairs to present school property.

Parents Sue for $100,000

Claim Birth Caused Shame

NEW YORK —(AP)— A man and wife are suing a doctor for $100,000, charging that a sterilization operation on the husband failed to work and that persons who knew it had been performed suspected the wife of adultery when a child was born.

The Ellenville, N. Y., couple, Jack Berman, 38, and his wife, Esther, contend in their state supreme court action that failure of the operation had caused them "humiliation, shame and disgrace."

On behalf of Mrs. Berman, the suit, filed yesterday, stated: "Members of the family who were informed and believed that my husband had become sterile as a result of the operation, believed that my child was illegitimate and born out of wedlock, and that I had been guilty of adultery."

The Bermans charged that Dr. Emanuel Donheiser, Manhattan physician, was "careless and negligent" in performing the operation.

The action related that Berman went to Dr. Donheiser after the couple's family physician advised Mrs. Berman that it was of "the utmost importance to my well-being that I should not again become pregnant," because "my life and mental stability would be endangered."

Surgery was performed on Oct. 26, 1945, the suit set forth, adding that "afterwards we were advised that it was entirely safe for us to engage in intercourse, and that under no circumstances could I become pregnant."

On Oct. 9, 1946, a daughter, Iris, was born to Mrs. Berman.

Coal Parley Decision Due

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Spokesmen for the soft coal operators predicted today that contract talks with John L. Lewis will be resumed next week.

They believed, however, that it would take an order by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to make the United Mine Workers' boss bargain with the Southern Coal Producers association. Lewis' refusal to recognize the association resulted in a breakdown in soft coal negotiations two weeks ago.

The judge said he would rule tomorrow on the government's request for an injunction to force Lewis to include the Southern association in the contract talks.

Coming as it did after Goldsborough had volunteered to act as peacemaker in the dispute, this announcement was believed to mean the judge's mediation effort will succeed.

Schools Served Horse Meat, Butcher Tells Grand Jury

HOUSTON, TEX —(UP)— A county grand jury sought today to learn whether Houston school children have been eating horse meat all semester without knowing it.

A butcher charged that horse meat, disguised as choice beef, was sold through school cafeterias to Houston pupils.

J. S Sullinger, president of the Select Meat company, said that 75 per cent of the horse meat was dressed at a plant the city has condemned as unfit to process meat for human consumption.

At Austin, Dr. George W. Cox state health officer, said an investigation was underway by his department.

No matter what the grand jury does, Cox said, his department will continue its inquiry until the report of horse meat sales is cleared up.

A butcher at a Houston meat company implicated his bosses. He said the horse meat came from New Jersey in barrels bearing green labels. He said he was instructed by his superiors to scratch out the label.

Not only was some of the meat delivered to school cafeterias, he said, but also to some of the better restaurants of Houston.

In some of the latter places, it was sold at prices ranging up to $1 20 per pound.

"I was butcher there for eight weeks," he said, "and I ground up a lot of the meat. What was not ground, was cut into steaks and cutlets and soaked in tubs with soda and vinegar to change the color and smell."

An executive of a leading packing firm said horse meat, labeled as such, was worth 7 to 8 cents per pound, while beef of even the middle grades was bringing at least six or seven times that amount

New Evidence Keeps Developing To Prove Wallace-Roerich Link

WASHINGTON—In developing and proving, step by step, the complicity of Henry Wallace in the weird, esoteric political and spiritual affairs of the late Prof. Nicholas Roerich, it has been necessary now and again to review or repeat. New information is found day by day which would be almost meaningless alone but is important in a design of wild but truthful revelation. Blurred at first, the facts are now coming into focus.

I did not know at the outset that the Roerich cult had made progress in Washington but I have learned that it did. There is absolutely no doubt that President Roosevelt knew about it and about Henry Wallace's implication in it when he selected Wallace in 1940 to be vice president.

Many important Democratic politicians were guilty of keeping silence when they had ominous information about the man who would become President if Roosevelt died.

Mrs. James Roosevelt, the President's mother, a determined, bossy woman who didn't hesitate to use her influence, had a high regard for Roerich's press agent in New York.

Devotees or disciples were won to the cult in very high circles. The roster of guests at the great hoax when Roosevelt "accepted" the Roerich "pact and banner of peace" and Wallace appeared in the solemn role of "protector" shows that the master promoter of the cult in New York did fine work. Admirals, generals, professors and clergymen were there. And Wallace himself thought he was on his way to immortality as a prince of peace through his seriocomic postures at the big shebang.

The reason for all this detail is that it shows the existence in the government, in the very White House and in the national headquarters of the ruling party of a dark, mysterious influence exected by an adventurer from Russia whose fanatical followers called him God and who loftily accepted this status.

All this conspiracy has lain hidden in the dark, secret files of the State department all these years.

Shielding the guilty and deceiving the millions of Americans whose fate was at risk in these wild proceedings and crooked schemes, the bureaus of the Roosevelt kingdom have tried to deny and withhold even from history the truth about a phase of government as crazy as any in the records of the mad courts of Europe.

Put Henry Wallace under oath, call a list of witnesses whom I would name.

★

We would then establish beyond doubt that Henry Wallace, the peace faker of 1948, in 1935 sent to Asia with credentials from the U. S. Department of Agriculture a Russian political adventurer who promptly kow-towed to the puppet emperor of Manchukuo, a kingdam created by the Japanese in violation of the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand pact. The god of the cult with which Henry Wallace had undeniable relations here paid tribute to the very act which finally, by a chain of events, involved the United States in the Asiatic war.

Tomorrow I will present some further letters bearing on this Guru fanaticism. Read them and say whether Roosevelt was guilty of a terrible treachery in selecting Henry Wallace to be vice president in 1940.

July 14 Set For Hearing On Highway

Would Put Route 13 In State System

The State Highway department today set July 14 at 1 p. m. in the Richland county courthouse for a public hearing on a plan to include the right of way of State Route 13 on the state highway system.

Presently, the 3.4 mile section around the eastern side of the Mansfield airport is in the county system.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said he learned that final plans for the highway have been set for approval by the second week in July. Construction plans are being prepared according to that schedule by the Ashland highway office.

He said the county applied in January for the right of way to be put on the state system. That application was approved by the state highway director

The July hearing is in compliance with the director's action, Rusk said.

The new highway will be 24-feet wide and will have 12-feet gravel berms on either side to permit it to be widened in the future.

Plans at present are for letting of contracts in late July. In the event of a July or an August letting, Rusk said grading and placing of culverts could be completed by the end of the year

Although there is no estimate on the cost, the highway is expected to cost about $500,000.

Richland county and Mansfield each is contributing $25,000 toward the construction cost and providing the right of way.

Rest of the cost will be borne by the state and federal governments.

Lawn Fete Crowds Largest In History

Mansfield's round of lawn fetes came to an end last night with a total of well over 15,000 persons having attended the annual spring festivals.

Thousands of dollars were poured into the treasuries of Parent and Teachers' associations as young and old devoured tons of hamburger, sloppy joes, potato salad, deviled eggs, milk, coffee, ice cream and pop corn.

Veteran school officials said the attendance exceeded any in the history of the annual fun-making and fund-raising events.

Brinkerhoff school's fete closed the season. Although unable to estimate the size of the crowd, Principal C. C. Secrist said four times as much food was consumed as last year.

Carpenter school's lawn fete Tuesday night drew a crowd of 2,000 persons. The Carpenter P-TA realized a gross profit of $1,000, Albert Benson reported.

He added that more food was donated and more sold than in any previous year, duplicating the experience of sponsors of all of the dozen fetes held this spring.

Banks Clear Record Sum

Mansfield bank clearings during each of the first five months of 1948 were higher than those for the corresponding months last year, according to figures released today by James Hunter, secretary of the Mansfield Clearing House association.

Clearings in January, March, April and May were all greater than the previous record high of $18,993,627.94 in December 1947. March 1948 is the highest month recorded so far this year, exceeding the 1947 record by $1,890,375. The March total was $20,884,003.

April's total was $20,272,955.42 while May hit $20,645,123.12. Clearings so far this year have totaled $98,115,160 as compared with $85,084,690 for the first five months of 1947.

Only one eligible woman applied for the position of city patrolwoman last night, Tom A. Woodard, chairman of the Civil Service commission, reported today.

"Five persons did come up to seek information, but they were all above the 29 year old age limit and we were not able to accept their applications," he said.

Woodard pointed out that the 21-to-29 age limit is mandatory by state law. He said the commission would have preferred to make the post open to older women.

The 25-year-old woman whose application was accepted will take the required test on June 10. Woodard said she had experience in fields related to police work.

Removal From City Urged

Board Lists Building Needs

The Richland County Child Welfare board wants the 80-year-old Children's Home on Hedges street replaced with a home on a farm property within three to five miles from Mansfield.

The board went on record unanimously in favor of the change. They sent their recommendation to the county commissioners yesterday.

Voting for the new site were John Finefrock, chairman of the Child Welfare board; George Steltz, chairman of the Children's Home committee; Mrs. Helen Young, secretary; Mrs. Emma Young, and Walter Fry, board members.

John W. Selby, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said he asked the board to make recommendations for improvements at the Children's Home.

He presented the letter yesterday to the other board members, Guy Stewart and C. L. Shoup, and said he would bring the matter up for discussion and possible action within 10 days. The letter was addressed to the commissioners.

Selby said he was in complete accord with the recommendation. Shoup and Stewart said they wanted to give the matter more thought. The board did not discuss the question yesterday.

LISTS FINDINGS

Reasons listed by the board for its recommendation were:

1. Inadequate facilities at the present home.

2. Present structure 250 Hedges street requires costly repairs. Regulations set up by the state in its building and sanitary code requires revamping of the plumbing system.

3. The electrical wiring in the building constitutes a hazard.

4. Bringing the kitchen up to a standard required for an institution of that type would require at least $5,000.

5. Recreational facilities in winter for the children are virtually non-existent.

6. The present farm, a small one, is exposed to the public view, and the home cannot plan on harvesting all that is expected from the crops planted.

7. Cost per child is increasing, partly due to the fact that a large part of the food supply must be purchased. The food could be raised on a farm.

8. As a board we feel it is our duty and responsibility to give these children the proper training and guidance they so badly need. Neatness, orderliness and thrift certainly should be considered as important lessons. The children should have a place for their belongings."

9. Richland county's population is growing rapidly and it is a foregone conclusion that obligations will continue to grow.

ASKS 3 BUILDINGS

The board said its idea for a new Children's Home calls for a girls' building, a boys' building and an administration building.

The administrative building would consist of the offices, dining room and kitchen, and a hospital, the board said.

"The new site would doubtless save taxpayers' money over a period of 20 years," the board's letter said.

"Much of our food supply could be provided by the farm. Taxpayers, we are sure, realize wise investments always prove beneficial.

"We are investing in the future. It is our responsibility to train these children to take their places in society as good American citizens.

The letter adds: "In a good many cases we have removed these children from homes deemed unsuitable. The training and environment provided by Richland county for these youngsters will do much toward establishing good homes in the future, in eliminating juvenile delinquency, and in contributing much that is worth while in developing the community."

Tribe Nipped By Nats 2-1, But Holds Lead

Cuff Stuff

THE MAJOR leagues seem well on their way to breaking all home run output records this year. . . . However, the Keltners, Williams, DiMaggios, Kiners, Sauers and Mizes must take a back seat to some of the oldtimers when it comes to driving balls long distances . . . Through computation of lengths of home runs is one of those intangible things, almost all of the scribes agree that Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx hit the longest ball. . . . The American league records say that Foxx, "The Beast," hit more extraordinary [illegible] drives than any other player

. . . But they also say The Babe's fame exhibition clout in 1919 was the longest of 'em all. . . . That homer was made in Tampa in April and the ball sailed far over the fielder's head. . . . Bob Lemon Doesn't Get Any Backing

WASHINGTON — (INS)— When the Cleveland Indians are hitting, there's no stopping them, but when they're not, the pitchers take the blunt end of it.

The latter part of this statement was evident last night in Griffith stadium in Washington when Bob Lemon, ace right hander for the Tribe, limited the Nationals to five hits, only one of which was a solid blow, but lost 2-1.

It was the third loss against seven victories for Lemon, whose string of scoreless innings was snapped at 28 in the fourth frame of last night's tilt.

GET SAME NUMBER

While the Redskins' ace hurler was scattering five singles over a nine inning period, his teammates were able to collect only the same number off Ray Scarborough, who never before has been a consistently winning pitcher.

The Nats scored their first marker in the fourth on a single by Gil Coan who stole second and scored on a single to right by Ed Stewart.

Coan was responsible for the other Washington run in the seventh. After he beat out a bunt to Eddie Robinson, he was sacrificed to second and moved to third on an infield out. Earl Wooten then scored Coan with a single that bounced over Ken Keltner's head into left field.

Cleveland's only tally was scored in the fifth inning on a single by movie star John Berardino and a 400-foot double by Jim Hegan. After Berardino scored, not another man advanced as far as third base and only two others reached second.

TWO SHUTOUTS

Lemon had faced the Nats twice previously and shut them out with four hits both times.

A futile attempt was made by the Tribe to score in the ninth when Larry Doby led off with a smashing single to center, his second hit of the game. Wally Judnich's long drive was pulled down in right field and Manager Lou Boudreau walked, putting the tying run in scoring position, but Keltner ended the game by grounding into a double play

Bob Feller will take the mound tonight.

Indians Trade Seerey, Gettel For Kennedy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today traded their sometime-slugger Pat Seerey and relief pitcher Al Gettel to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Bob Kennedy.

Seerey and Gettel are to report to the White Sox in Philadelphia today, and Manager Lou Boudreau said he intended to start Kennedy in right field here tonight for the tribe.

Boudreau said the trade was made "to help the ball club" and that Kennedy would be used in the outfield against southpaw pitchers, alternating as Seerey did with Larry Doby, who is started in right field against righthanders.

The trade also cut the Indians' roster enough to allow addition of Ray Murray from Oklahoma City to bring the complement of Indian catchers to three and prevent emergencies such as last week when Boudreau had to leave his shortstop position and catch the last two innings of a game.

Ohio State Baseballers Vie For Honors In Big 9 Play

CHICAGO—(INS)—One Ohio pitcher and two Ohio hitters will be slanting for league honors this weekend when the Buckeyes battle Wisconsin for third place in the final Western conference baseball standings.

The Friday and Saturday twinner at Madison, Wis., is the only remaining appointment on the Big Nine diamond books. First place, indeed, already has been decided, with Michigan and Illinois sharing the crown with 10 victories and two defeats apiece.

Ohio State, which was scheduled for 14 conference games, has won seven, lost five, while Wisconsin, supposed to play 12 family contests, has won five, lost four, and been rained out once.

PERINI TO PITCH

The Buckeyes' Pete Perini, who outpitched Illinois' Marv Rotblatt last Friday, handing the Illini his first Big Nine setback in two years, needs another victory to become the loop's best hurler. Like Rotblatt and Michigan's Art Dole, Perini, at the moment, has won five, lost one.

Meanwhile, either Ohio Catcher Norb Ranz or Centerfielder Ray Gebhardt, second and fourth respectively in the batting race, have a chance to catch the current leader, Second Baseman Herb Plews of Illinois. Plews, with 21 hits for 52 at-bats, finished the season with a batting average of .404.

Joe Mayer showed just why he is a golf pro yesterday as he fired a scorching two-under-par 34 while playing in the Westinghouse afternoon league at Possum Run.

It was one of the best nine hole cards turned in at the South Main street road course this year.

Frank Cipris led the Morning league golfers with a par 34 at Coolridge. Grant Hanawalt fired a 36 at Coolridge and Jim Musille a 36 at Possum Run.

Homers Help Brewers Win

(By Associated Press)

The American association baseball prophets picked Milwaukee to win the 1948 baseball championship and it appeared today that Manager Nick Cullop's Brewers are on their way up.

Four home runs, two by Nanny Fernandez, gave Milwaukee a 7-to-4 victory over the fourth-place St. Paul Saints last night and the triumph lifted the Brewers into a second-place tie with Columbus. The Red Birds and Milwaukee are 4½ games behind pace-setting Indianapolis. The Indians set down Columbus, 6 to 5 last night.

In other league games, Kansas City came from behind to defeat Minneapolis 8 to 4 and Louisville edged out Toledo, 2 to 1.

ASHLAND — Eddie Finnegan, Baldwin-Wallace track coach and his ace trackman, Harrison Dillard, will be guests at Friday night's banquet of the Ashland Booster club at Trinity Lutheran church. The event is planned as a track-baseball banquet.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—Glenn Hendershot 146½, Binghamton outpointed Bruce Foote, 143, Endicott, 8.

Philadelphia Fans To Honor Connie

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Philadelphia tonight pays tribute to one of its most universally-beloved citizens—Connie Mack.

The venerable leader of the Athletics will be honored in recognition of his 48th consecutive year as manager and in celebration of his 65th year in organized baseball.

Cincinnati Farms Out Pitcher 'Ev' Lively

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Pitcher Everett (Red) Lively was on his way to Tulsa of the Texas league today after being farmed out on a 24-hour recall basis by the Cincinnati Reds.

Lively came to the Reds last year and compiled a record of four wins against seven defeats.

3 Teams Unbeaten In Softball League

Farm Tools and Ideal Electric remain on top of the Industrial softball league today after hanging up their third victories without defeat last night.

Farm Tools had a narrow escape as it pushed over a run in the bottom half of the sixth to edge Mansfield Tire, 7-6.

Ideal had things a little easier as it coasted to a 9-5 victory over Mansfield Plumbing and Heating. Home runs by Russell Shade and Rax Prosser of Ideal helped in administering the first loss of the season to the Plumbers.

Tappan remained just one jump behind the leaders as it hung up its second win, 18-7, over the Telephone company. Tappan is also undefeated, and showed evidence of being one of the owers of the circuit with 15 hits.

Mervin DeLong, Tappan right fielder, put on the best batting exhibition of the young softball season as he hit three home runs and a single in five times at bat.

Cole's Tool and Die fell into a last place tied with the Telephone company by losing to Dominion Electric 12-11. Cole's scored twice in the top of the seventh to tie the score but Dominion came back in their half to push over the winning tally.

Indians Plan Ball Schools

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians will open their second annual baseball schools at Massillon, O., next week with the goal of uncovering new talent among Ohio high school youths.

Indian scouts Laddie Placek and Glenn "Gup" Lewis, assisted by batting practice catcher Bill Lobe, will operate the school at Lincoln park in Massillon June 10-12. The school will move to the fairgrounds at Warren June 17-19, under the direction of chief Tribe scouts Bill Bradley and Placek, also assisted by Lobe.

The school will be operating for the first time at Massillon this year. At Warren last year the Indians signed Herman Wollitz, Bob Kuhas and Mike Lutz. High school graduates who are not members of an American Legion team are eligible to enroll in the schools.

Mansfield 9 Takes Lead In NCO Loop

Gorman-Rupp took over undisputed possession of first place in the North Central Ohio Inter-City Softball league last night by defeating a host Marion Smitty's Grill team, 3-0.

It was the second win in as many days for the Mansfield team, making them the only league team with two victories.

Kenny Windsor was largely responsible for last night's victory on the offensive and defensive sides. Windsor pitched two-hit shutout ball to hang up his first league win. He walked only one man while fanning one.

KNOCKS IN FIRST

On the offensive side, Windsor drove in Gorman-Rupp's first run which was the one needed for victory. All the scores cames in the top of the fifth. Wayne Hough was safe when Hart dropped his fly to left. Bill McCarrick sacrificed Hough to second but he was out at third when he tried to move up on Turner's bounder to Roseberry.

Windsor then teed off with his game-winning double and Al Baki followed suit with another two-bagger. Before the smoke had cleared away, Cook dropped Ted Bush's fly to right and Baki crossed the plate with the third run.

★

Willard, only other team in the league to play two games, dropped its second contest at Ashland last night by the decisive score of 9-1.

★

Finished with their league schedule until June 10 when they play at Willard, Gorman-Rupp will take on the Orrville Bronze Highlanders in an exhibition game here Friday night.

★

Gorman-Rupp officials announced this morning that prices for all home games will be 30 cents for adults and 15 for youngsters 18 and under. These prices go into effect tomorrow.

Dodgers Start Back Up Ladder

(By Associated Press)

Slowly but surely the Brooklyn Dodgers are climbing back into the National league pennant race.

The defending champions, after a disastrous start that found them in and out of last place, are in sixth place today, only five games behind the pace-setting New York Giants and two games out of the first division.

Manager Leo Durocher's pitching staff, which took plenty of beatings in the early going, has suddenly righted itself with big Ralph Branca, Preacher Roe and Joe Hatten leading the way.

Hatten went the route for the second time this season last night, pitching the Brooks to a 5-3 victory over the fading Cardinals in a night game at St Louis It was the Dodgers' first victory in five meetings with the Cards, who now have lost six straight.

By losing, the Cards dropped a game and a half behind the Giants who trampled the Reds, 7-4, in a day game at Cincinnati

JANSEN WINS SIXTH

Larry Jansen, star Giant righthander, scattered 11 Red hits in posting his sixth win of the year. Jansen helped his own cause, driving in three runs on two singles.

The third place Pittsburgh Pirates also lost ground, falling two games behind the Giants as they bowed, 5-1, to the Boston Braves in a night game at Pittsburgh. Johnny Sain held the Pirates to three safeties, one of which was Ralph Kiner's 12th home run of the year in the ninth inning.

In the American league the Cleveland Indians retained their slim first place margin over the Philadelphia Athletics. The Indians dropped a 2-1 five hit decision to Rae Scarborough and the Washington Senators, but remained seven percentage points ahead of the A's as the Athletics also lost, 7-3 to the Chicago White Sox.

Bob Lemon, who entered the night game unscored on in 25 straight innings, went the route for Cleveland. It was his third loss as against seven wins.

The last place White Sox raked Bill Dietrich and Nelson Potter for 11 hits in their after dark struggle in Philadelphia while Joe Haynes halted the A's on nine safeties in coasting to his fourth victory.

St Louis' surprising Browns moved over the Detroit Tigers into fourth place as a result of their 3-1 night game triumph over the Red Sox in Boston.

Fred Sanford checked the Sox on seven blows while his mates collected nine off Lefty Mel Parnell

The Tigers, who now trail the Browns by a game, lost a 1-0 decision to the Yankees in a day game at New York

Charlie Keller, the Yanks hard-luck outfielder, went out of the lineup with a broken bone in his left hand. Vic Raschi won his sixth straight for the Yankees against one defeat while Art Houtteman was tagged for his seventh straight loss

In the only other day game, the Chicago Cubs nosed out the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1 in 12 innings at Chicago.

Vic Raschi, Yank Rookie, Uses 'Nickel Screwball'

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — (AP) — Rugged Vic Raschi, his New York Yankee flannels bulging with muscles, tucked a king-sized "chaw" in his cheek today and credited one of the best pitching records in baseball to "getting them out the best way I can."

There's no pop off in this silent strong man with the lantern jaw whose six victories against one defeat is the best hurling mark of the season, matched only by Joe Coleman of the Athletics. He's a conservative, well-educated man marveling at the present and looking to the future.

For to listen to the well-spoken athlete, you would wonder how he ever won.

"All I've got is a curve, a fast ball and a nickel screwball," he grinned. "I just try to get them out the best way I can."

Heart and solid application seem to be the answer. There's no indecision in this 29-year-old giant on the hill—or off.

Atop the pitching mound, Raschi works smoothly and swiftly and seems at his best when in trouble. Then he sends that fast one whistling through, kicking his right leg sideways on the follow through in what almost seems like a challenging strut.

Proof that, despite his modesty, there is plenty on the ball can be seen from the fact that Vic has won 15 games for the Yanks against only three defeats. He first came up from Binghamton at the end of the 1946 season and won a pair.

Then, last season, Vic started out with the Yanks and was sent to Portland. But early in July the bomber pitching corps started to come apart at the seams and they picked up Bobo Newsom and put in a call to Portland.

"I had just won a night game, my eighth win against two defeats," Raschi recalled. "Manager Jim Turner told me to catch a plane for Chicago. I went 48 hours without sleep, hurried into the stadium in Chicago, and won the second game of a doubleheader."

Vic went on to take seven in a row, copping the Yankees' 19th straight to tie the American league record. It wound up in a series share for the young man from Massachusetts.

With it he went back to William and Mary for the winter semester, studying sociology and government. Vic had three years there before spending three years in service and has gone back each winter shooting for a degree. Because when he's through with baseball he'd like to be a recreation director.

'Drought' Not Serious, Says Agriculture Expert

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The last two weeks of dry weather, characterized as a "drought" in some parts of the state, have not caused any serious damage to crops, Dr. D. F. Beard, extension agronomist at Ohio Stats university, said today.

While conditions are "not ideal," he said, the advantages of having dry weather to complete planting have overshadowed any disadvantages that might have resulted.

"The northern part of the state seems to be in somewhat better condition than the south," he said "They needed the dry spell to get their crops in.

"To be sure, pastures, gardens and lawns are the first to show the effects of dry weather, but I am certain that oats, wheat and soy beans that have been planted in well prepared soil that was not too wet and was well worked down are not suffering seriously."

"No doubt, rain would be welcome over most of the state, but we must remember that it will soon be haying time, and what we lose on bananas we might make up on pineapple, so to speak."

Dr. Beard said there had been some replanting, particularly of corn, in some scattered sections.

"I don't know why, but I assume that the earlier planting had germinated and then rotted.

"People who are crying 'drought' are short on memory. Only three weeks ago we were worrying about the wet ground and were afraid we were going to have the same conditions we had last spring."

He was informed that the weather bureau's extended forecast called for showers totaling about a tenth of an inch Friday night or Saturday, with sunny, mild weather between now and then.

"That ought to do the job," he said. "A nice little shower would be welcome."

Pope Calls For Reforms

Cites Necessity Of Reforms

ROME —(AP)— Pope Pius XII called Wednesday for "just and necessary social reforms" to solve problems "growing out of the ruin and revolution of the world and its aftermath."

Not otherwise, he said, could "wayward and embittered hearts" be won back to the "true concepts and sound ideas about the world and God."

He invoked "earnestness, loyalty, energy and fairness" of 'all men of right principles" for the task, citing especially the "urgent need to provide the poorer classes with housing, bread and work."

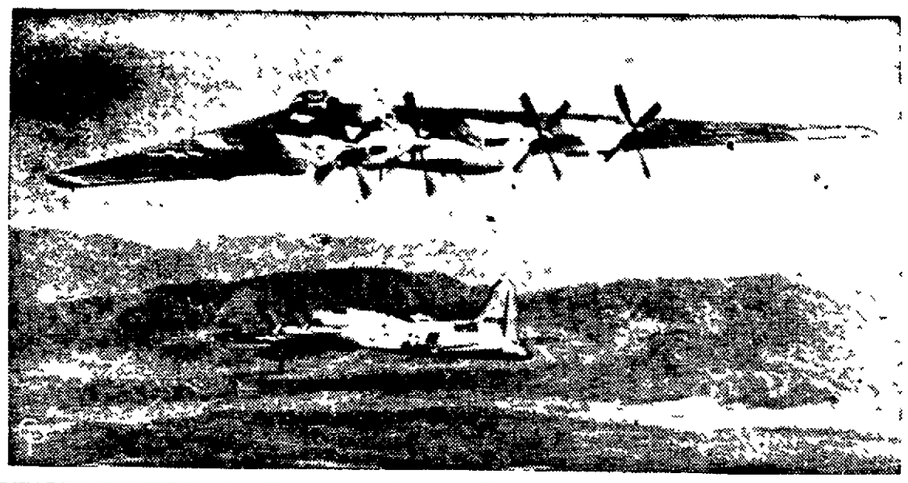
To Catholics he gave the watch word, "watchfulness"—lest the enemy, whose identity he did not specify, "retake the ground so laboriously conquered."

Th 25-mnute speech in Italian was the pontiff's first major address since a communist-led challenge was turned back in Italy's election April 18 and 19

It was in reply to greetings from 17 cardinals of the Holy college on his saint's day The pope's name is Eugenio Pacelli. His saint is St Eugene.

The address came, coincidentally, on the second birthday of the Italian republic.

The rose was one of the first flowers to become domesticated More than 200 species have been discovered and named



DWARFS FORTRESS—Startling contrast between the new B-35—the Northrop flying wing bomber of 100 tons and 172-foot wingspread—and the now obsolete B-17 Flying Fortress, backbone of the air war against Germany, is provided in this picture of the two in a test in the air over Muroc Air Base, California. B-35's can fly 10,000 miles nonstop at speeds far greater than B-17's.—(International Soundphoto)
